

Terms and Conditions for Spotify Codes between you and Spotify AB, and its parents, subsidiaries, and affiliates ("Spotify")

Thanks for choosing to use Spotify Codes, a unique and fun way to share your favourite content on Spotify. By creating or using Spotify Codes, you agree to be bound by our Spotify Terms and Conditions of Use as well as the following "Terms and Conditions for Spotify Codes":

- Authorization: If you generate Spotify Codes on behalf of a company, organization, entity or brand (a "Brand"), these terms shall apply to both you and the Brand. You represent and warrant that you are authorized to bind the Brand in this way.
- License: You are granted a non-exclusive license to use and display Spotify Codes for the purpose of sharing a piece of content from the Spotify Service. You are not allowed to sell or offer Spotify Codes as such. Spotify does not provide any tracking information regarding the number of scans of Spotify Codes.
- Compliance with Guidelines: Your use of a Spotify Code must always be in compliance with the Brand Guidelines for Spotify Codes, which contain rules on the placement, sizing and color of Spotify Codes. You are not allowed to modify a Spotify Code in any way. Further, if you are a Brand using a Spotify Code to share your Brand playlist, you must adhere to the Spotify Brand Playlist Guidelines.
- No Right to Display Spotify Service Content: Spotify does not grant you a right to display any content or material from the Spotify service, websites, and software applications (together, the "Spotify Service") or from any third party together with a Spotify Code, including any images, text, messages or information. If you use such content, you must ensure you obtain the necessary rights.
- Do Not Imply Endorsement: You shall not use a Spotify Code in a manner that implies an endorsement or relationship between you or your Brand and any artist, album, track or third party on the Spotify Service, unless you have independently obtained the rights to imply such endorsement; or (b) implies an endorsement, partnership or sponsorship between you or your Brand and Spotify; or (c) is injurious to the interests of any artist, rights holder or Spotify.
- Use of Spotify Codes on goods and/or products: You shall not use a Spotify code directly on products to be sold as it would imply an endorsement of your product. In addition, you would not be able to sell goods that drive to artist content without permissions from rights holders (artists and labels). Using a Spotify code on marketing materials and social media is allowed as long as the below requirements are met:
 - Spotify cannot provide approval on Spotify Codes that direct to specific songs, albums or artist profiles.

- If you wanted to lead to a playlist (with at least 10 songs) that you have permission to direct to (meaning you have permission from the playlist owner or are the playlist owner), that is acceptable.
 - The code should not be a main feature of the page – but instead be a CTA (Call to Action) to direct people to the playlist.
- Use of Spotify Codes in Yearbooks: When incorporating Spotify Codes into academic yearbooks, the following guidelines apply:
